DETAILED ACTION

1. The proposed claims amended which was faxed on 4/15/05 is considered not responsive and therefore, not entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --
(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by

C. C. Buckels (2,808,172).

C. C. Buckels :

Regarding claims 6-7, a reversible bracket (see sketch A) for attachment to an open front face of an outlet box 2 comprising (see fig 1):

a planar flange 14 having opposed surfaces having a first position with one of said opposed surfaces being attachable to said open front face of said box (see sketch A) and a reversible second position with the other of said opposed surfaces being attachable to said open front face of said box (see sketch A); and a bounded access member extending through said flange (see sketch A), said access member having an opening 16 extending through said flange between opposite extending rims of said access member (see sketch A), one of said rims being located a first distance from said open front face of said box when said flange is in said first position (see sketch A), and the other of said rims being located at a second distance from said open front face of said box when said flange is in said reversible second position, and said first distance being different from and said second distance (see sketch A and figs 1-3). With respect to claim 7, it is noted that the assembly of Buckels meet the structural limitations (see figs 3-4).

Regarding claim 8, a bracket (see sketch A) for attachment to an electrical outlet box 2 having a back wall, a side wall upstanding from and perimetrically bounding said back wall so as to define a box interior and an open face opposite said back wall (see fig 1), said bracket comprising: a generally planar flange 14 (see fig 1) positionable on an upper edge of said side wall (see fig 1) for spanning said open face of said box, said planar flange having an opening 16 therethrough for accessing said box interior (see fig1, column 319-25) , said opening being bounded by a first extending wall 30 (see figs 1-3, column 3 lines 60-74), said first extending wall extending a first distance and in a first direction from said planar flange and a second extending wall 30 extending a second distance and in a second direction from said planar flange (see figs 1-3, column 3 lines 60-74), said first distance being different from said second distance (see fig 1) and said first direction being opposite said second direction (see fig 1).

Regarding claim 9, said first distance approximates the thickness of a first wall board and said second distance approximates the thickness of a second wall board of different thickness (see figs 1-3). it is noted that the assembly of C. C. Buckels meet the structural limitations.

Regarding claim 10, one of said first and second extending walls is positioned to extend into said box interior (see fig 1). it is noted that the assembly of C. C. Buckels meet the structural limitations.

Art Unit: 2831

Regarding claims 11-12, claims 11-12 are method counter part of product claims 8-9.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 6-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
